Web Resources for Emergency Management and Catchment Management.doc

Web Resources for Emergency Management and Catchment Management

Spatial Vision has added a set of new Information Pages to our website. These Information Pages provide users with easy access to a range of web resources on a specific theme. Two Information Pages have been implemented so far:

1. An Emergency Management information page designed to inform users about the use of spatial technologies to support emergency planning, response and recovery
2. A Catchment Management information page designed to inform users about the use of spatial technologies to improve catchment management planning, implementation and monitoring

To find the Information Pages, click on Quickfind Resources on www.spatialvision.com.au or access them directly from the following urls

www.spatialvision.com.au/emergency www.spatialvision.com.au/catchment

If you would like to recommend additional web resources to add into these Information Pages, please contact Jeremy Alcorn at Spatial Vision.
